MoveOn's first-ever book—MoveOn's 50 Ways to Love Your Country—is by MoveOn members that have engaged in political dialogue in diverse and wonderful ways, making a real difference for themselves and their communities. These inspiring true stories are about standing up for what we believe, demanding more from our elected leaders, getting out the vote, influencing legislation, running for office, and participating in our democracy. OUR democracy.

Come hear Carrie Olsen, Chief Operating Officer of MoveOn.org, and two of the book's contributors who will inspire you with their own stories of taking action and making a difference. There are many things individuals can do, and this book gives 50 great suggestions!

MoveOn.org is one of the fastest growing, largest political activist groups in the nation – a catalyst for a new kind of grassroots involvement, supporting busy but concerned citizens in finding their political voice. Since 1998, MoveOn has leveraged the Internet to create an organization with the ability and credibility to raise millions of dollars and move tens of thousands of people to action within hours. Their nationwide network of more than 2 million online activists in the U.S. is considered one of the most effective and responsive outlets for democratic participation available today, earning them respect from many quarters.
